2023

Leadership Academy 2023

The Leadership Academy is for people looking at developing their existing leadership experience and who have the potential for holding senior positions and governance roles.

The programme assists the participant to be equipped for leadership within their own organisation/business and the community. The participant, at the completion of the experiential and reflective learning sessions, will have a good understanding of what is required to be a significant leader in their own organisation and in the wider business community.

Each of the sessions is led by a skilled leadership coach or senior executive from a significant Nelson based business or organisation. The participant will benefit from the opportunity to interact with the presenter and build an ongoing connection with them.

Each session is two hours long and participants can expect to be actively engaged.

Programme Presenters

Jon Lasenby

Jon is an inspiring coach and facilitator, with over 20 years of experience across business, education, outdoor instruction and management.

The unifying theme of Jon's work has been helping people to realise their potential, often far exceeding their own expectations in the process. Jon's work blends academic rigor and a foundation in theory and research, with a commitment to learning by doing. Many of the skills of team working and leadership are complex behaviours founded in emotional intelligence, and these are remarkably hard to learn without real, or simulated practice...lots of practice!

Key roles and qualifications include: Leadership Circle Certified Practitioner, Master's Degree in Outdoor Education, Eight years for Outward Bound NZ including five as a member of the leadership team, Four years in international sport as competitor and coach, Team Management Systems: Personality profile and team roles tools, Brain Based Coaching: Neuro-Leadership Institute.

Stephen Broad-Paul

Experienced Leader and Senior Executive with a demonstrated history of working in complex roles. Skilled in Business Relationship Management, making strategic plans happen, Sales & Marketing Leadership, Retail and Business Banking at a strategic level.

Passionate about coaching people to realize their full potential personally and professionally. Totally committed to the customer, Stephen makes business decisions with the customer at the centre. Strong business development professional with a Graduate Certificate in Business focused in Business Administration, Human Resources and Management from the University of Otago, Stephen is also a very experienced Director, having successfully held a number of not for profit directorships.

Programme Presenters

Melissa Muirhead

Melissa was a Global HR executive at Heineken based in Amsterdam. Overseeing people capability in 80 countries led Melissa to explore her obsessions with growth mindset and design thinking, developing Heineken's new global people strategy, specifically leading culture and transformation.

Now Tasman-based, Melissa recently founded The Great Work Lab which works with organisations globally around culture transformation, leadership, design thinking and executive coaching.

Dr. Mike Ashby

Dr. Mike is one of New Zealand's leading keynote speakers and business coaches with his unique blend of intelligence, personal experience, and insight. He is the author of the book, Breakpoints: How to Shift Your Business to the Next Level.

Before buying Breakthrough's predecessor business in 2003, he was Chief Operating Officer at Southern Cross Healthcare where he was responsible for turning a $42M loss into a $30M profit in two years. Before that, he was a partner at Ernst & Young Consulting in Wellington.

Mike is married to Franceska. He has 3 grown children, he lives in sunny Mapua and plays dadrock with his brother in a local pub.

Programme Presenters

Ron McLuckie

Ron is Managing Partner of the consulting companies New Futures and Psytech New Zealand. His professional passion and purpose is helping leaders achieve exceptional personal and business results in our seriously disrupted, radically different and opportunity rich world.

He indicates that business has learned that it needs to embrace digital technology and simultaneously develop powerful new solutions in the 'human domain' if it is to succeed. Ron's focus is on creating innovative leadership solutions in this 'human domain'.

Ron's professional background has embraced a rich blend of senior corporate, academic, consulting and entrepreneur roles in several countries. His career started in South Africa and progressed to the Middle East, New Zealand, India and finally back to New Zealand. He has also undertaken a range of successful leadership and organisation development assignments in other countries including Hong Kong, Russia, Singapore, Dubai, Tanzania, and Bhutan.

Ron's academic qualifications include undergraduate and postgraduate degrees in human sciences and business administration. He has gained numerous certifications in leadership & team coaching, neurosciences, psychometrics, human resources, and other disciplines. One of his major achievements was being certified as a Master Action Learning Coach with the World Institute for Action Learning, making him one of only 14 coaches globally to have received this award.

Volunteering has always been an important component of Ron's life. He is currently a board member of Business Assist Nelson Tasman, a mentor with Business Mentors New Zealand, a keen member of the Whakatu Rotary Club and a leadership trainer for Rotary in the South Island. On a personal level Ron is married with two sons, five grandchildren, loves travel and the great outdoors.

What others have said..

I attended the Leadership Academy programme as run by the Nelson Chamber of Commerce and was very impressed with the calibre of the speakers that had been arranged.

The leaders who presented to the group were all very open, honest and informative in their style of communication and each session I picked up more insights and skills to take back to my own organisation.

I can highly recommend this course for anyone considering it for their leaders in their organisations both to learn and gain knowledge from experienced leaders but also to create a support network of like-minded individuals within the community.

Last year, I had the pleasure of attending the Chamber of Commerce Leadership Academy. There were eight sessions led by different leaders in their own sectors and I found each session to be very interesting and informative. It was great to share ideas around improvement within our companies with like-minded individuals. It also gave me a different perspective on how to approach challenging situations in my own role.

I would highly recommend the course to anyone looking to further develop themselves in their role, as well as the companies they work for.

The Leadership Academy was outstanding. The speakers provided great insight into many areas of leadership, with varied experiences and practical examples and guidance.

We also made really valuable connections with the other participants in the Academy and have remained in contact, supporting each other by sharing ideas and advice.
